Race Preview: The first KZN juvenile race has attracted a big field of first timers so the betting will be your best guide. Mike Miller has his usual compliment and saddles seven of the 12 runners. Stable rider Tristan Godden generally has the pick of the rides so Master Magician could prove the pick but he is not infallible.

Race Preview: Place Of Practice improved nicely on the poly second time out but can make the required improvement. Winter In London also improved at his second start behind the useful looking Cognac. He can also make the required improvement. Eastern Highlands looks held by Place Of Practice going on their last meeting but does have experience in his favour. Best Of All has a blue-blood pedigree and one to keep an eye on in the betting given that regular stable rider S'Manga Khumalo rides.

★ 7 Mr McDonald
1 Past And Present
13 Director
12 Dubai Dude

Race Preview: Mr McDonald caught the eye when running on late on debut. It was not the greatest maiden field but with some expected improvement he can go one better. Past And Present makes his local debut for his new stable. He has been rested but had some useful Cape form over further. The blinkers are back on and he has the best of the draw. Director has drawn wide but his last run in the soft is best ignored. He was consistent before that. Dubai Dude was well beaten on debut but that form has held up quite well. He gets the services of vastly experience French rider Mickaëlle Michel who will relish the 1.5kg allowance.

Race Preview: Annie's Song will need some luck in running from her wide draw but she has improved with every outing and looks primed for this. Thought Control made a promising debut over the distance and sure to come on with the experience. Heavenly Mafia makes her local debut and shows steady Cape and PE form. The blinkers stay on with a claiming apprentice up. Sovereign Gem has the best of the draw and she did improve at her second outing in the soft. Can go close.

Race Preview: Cleartherunway has a tricky draw to contend with but he was an impressive winner of his maiden at just his second start. The form of that race had panned out with second placed Eric's Legacy skating home by eight lengths next time out albeit in a shallow field. He is in receipt of 1.5kg from Cleartherunway and has a better draw which could swing the odds in his favourite. Red Mountain has shown some recent improvement in blinkers and with a claiming apprentice up he comes into the race with a strong chance. Spaarne Rivier was a little disappointing last time out but is down in class and cannot be written off lightly.

Race Preview: Magma Magic has shown signs of form of late and may just have needed his last effort. This trip should suit. Bank Street switches to the turf but has been running consistently well on the poly. He got a two-point raise in the handicap for his runner-up placing last time out and is up in trip. Kimball O'hara has a tricky draw but has dropped further in the ratings and is down in class. Definitely Yes has been making steady improvement with a tongue-tie and should be a contender.

Race Preview: Gimmeforsure has been consistent since her debut win. She makes her local debut and steps up to what could be a more suitable trip given her pedigree. She only has 51.5kg to shoulder from a favourable draw. At the other end of the gate is Sascha's Dream who boasts solid current form. She stays the trip well and gets some relief from the saddle. Grand Occasion was well fancied for a hatrick of wins last time out but found one too good. She has come good of late and steps up in trip. Miss Twinkle meets Sascha's Dream on identical weight terms but does have the better draw. There should not be too much between them come the line.

Race Preview: Fortress Of Fire was disappointing in features last season but ended off in promising fashion. After nearly five months off the track, he caught the eye in his seasonal debut when running on stoutly from a wide draw on the poly behind the very much in form United Nations. He shed his maiden over course and distance and could be finally finding himself. Maphaka has been knocking on the door for some time now. He is dropping in the ratings and could be competitive again. Dapper is long overdue and seldom out of the money. One of his best recent showings has been over course and distance. Beamonesque finished just ahead of Fortress Of Fire when making his local debut. He had useful Highveld form before that and will be competitive.

He is quick and could be the surprise package. Yannakis is down in class and has a 4kg claimer aboard which should help his cause.
